Summary

A self-motivated, and passionate IT Graduate with a bachelors and masters, both in Information Technology. I have a keen interest in Software Development and Programming and always seek to learn new things. As I have also completed my internship at Adzguru as a software engineer so, I am currently seeking for a new entry-level position where I can apply all my transferable as well as technical skills and enhance them. Currently, doing a web development bootcamp course from Udemy. Besides, I'm a quick learner, good team player, able to build rapport quickly and conduct training sessions with clarity and enthusiasm. Also, always ready to take initiative to get things done in the best way possible.
